3 ARRESTED IN SCHOOL BLAST

Injunction Is Filed Against Gov. Faubus

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — The federal government's patience ran out on Gov. Orval E. Faubus today and the Justice Department filed an injunction petition against him for his continued defiance of school integration orders.

The petition, which could eventually bring Faubus into open court, was requested Monday by U.S. District Judge Ronald A. Davies. The judge is expected to issue an order in the case soon.

The action, which must travel through legal court processes, came too late to give Negroes a chance to enroll in a controversial high school here this semester.

With the filing of court action, tension at the schools involved went down quickly. It was almost like a normal day at North Little Rock High, after a brief period of tension at the school where six Negroes tried to enroll Monday, and at Little Rock's Central High.

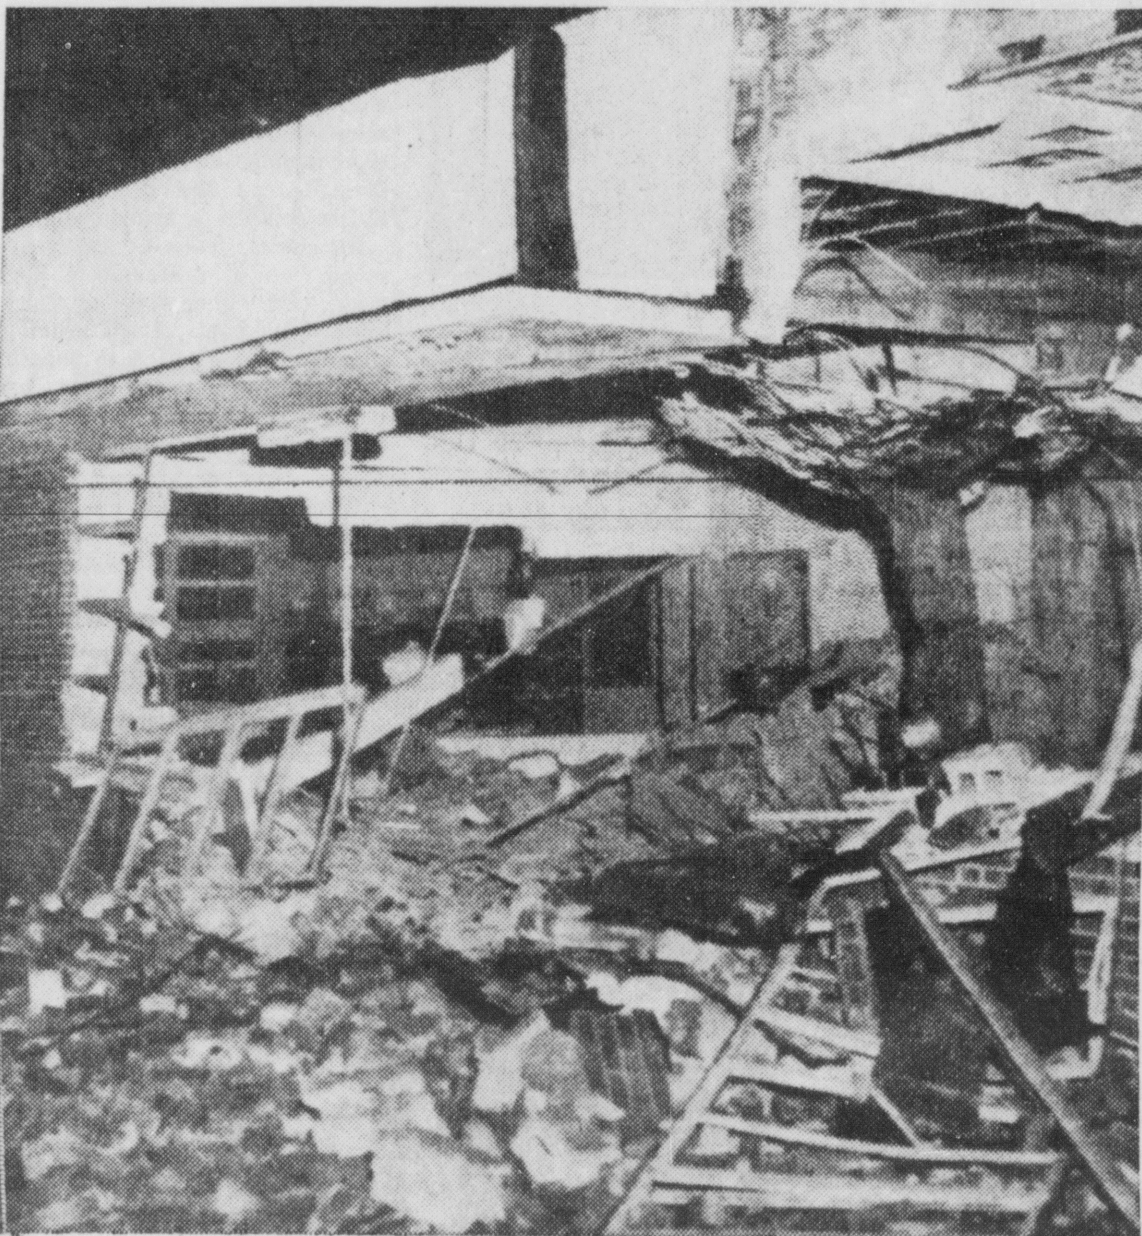

Faubus said today (on NBC's "Today" television program) he has a "strong feeling" Davies was sent to Little Rock specifically to handle the school case.

But the governor said evidence he gave the FBI concerning his reasons for calling out the guard were sufficient to convince "any prudent, reasonable man" he was in the right.

The Justice Department asked for both temporary and permanent injunctions against Faubus. Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger, state adjutant general who is commander of the National Guard, and Lt. Col. Marion T. Johnson, unit commander of guard troops Faubus has used to prevent integration of Central High School.

Faubus Position Unknown
Faubus, who claims his action was taken to preserve the peace and prevent violence, has not disclosed whether he will willingly accept a subpoena from the government.

The Justice Department petition did not request a temporary restraining order against the governor, apparently dismissing the (Continued on Page 3, Col. 8)

A dynamite blast ripped a massive hole in the side of Hattie Cotton School in Nashville, Tenn., early today, after a lone Negro pupil registered yesterday in the city's "gradual integration" program. (United Press Telephoto).

Seven Others Face Charge Of Disorder

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — A thunderous dynamite blast demolished a newly-integrated school here early today, climaxing a day and night of demonstrations and violence protesting racial mixing at the first-grade level.

Police later arrested three white men sitting in a car near another of the seven Nashville grade schools that were integrated Monday. Officers said a detonator was found in the car, which was parked in front of a school about an hour before school opening time.

The car was plastered with Ku Klux Klan signs. Inside, police found a billy club and a machete—a large heavy knife of the variety used to chop through South American jungles.

Seven persons demonstrating around other Nashville schools today were arrested for disorderly conduct. Scores of students stayed away from classes on this second day of the school year here.

Building Shattered

The half-million-dollar Hattie Cotton school, where one Negro child began attending classes Monday, was shattered at 12:45 a.m. c.s.t. by a dynamite explosion that left only the exterior walls standing. No one was injured but nearby residents were knocked from their beds and windows were blown out over an area of several blocks.

Police blocked off streets around most of the freshly integrated Nashville schools as bewildered youngsters started another day of classes.

The three white men arrested for questioning in connection with the explosion at Hattie Cotton were picked up near the Fehr school, scene of most of yesterday's integration turmoil.

Segregationist John Kasper, who has twice been convicted for interfering with integration at Clinton, Tenn., last year, was active at Fehr school yesterday and he spoke to a segregation rally here last night.

Rope Off Scene

Police officials, angry over the early morning school bombing, roped off integrated elementary schools and in some instances let nobody through the lines but the youngsters themselves. Even the parents accompanying them were turned back.

Four persons—some carrying signs and others riding by in cars—were arrested at the Glenn school, site of jeering and rock throwing yesterday.

Some of the score of Negroes who began attending class with white pupils yesterday showed up for the second day of classes. But attendance of both whites and Negroes fell off sharply.

Ike Being 'Patient' In Arkansas Feud

NEWPORT, R.I. (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he is following a policy of "patience" in the integration dispute in Arkansas. The President was quoted by a Rhode Island Republican national committeeman who met with him.

Committeeman Bayard Rustin, one of seven Rhode Island Republican leaders who met with the President for 45 minutes, said the President "gave no indication" he might have to go beyond court proceedings.

Former gubernatorial candidate in Rhode Island Christopher Del Sesto said the meeting was mostly given over to national politics.

"The President," he said, "briefed us on the situation in Arkansas and in the Middle East."

Following the meeting, Del Sesto introduced his Negro part-time chauffeur, Jero Cole, 40, of Shelby, N.C., to the president, Eisenhower and Colle shook hands and posed for several minutes.

Del Sesto said Eisenhower had only briefed the group on his problems in Arkansas and had not indicated his future actions.

Eisenhower is considering "alternative procedures" he might take in the event Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus defies a federal injunction restraining him from interfering with school integration in Little Rock.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty refused to say what the procedures were. However, the President, as the nation's Commander-in-Chief, has the power to use the armed forces or to federalize the Arkansas National Guard, which has refused to permit Negro children to enter the beleaguered Central High School in Little Rock.

The President, meanwhile, scheduled a round of golf this morning. He was to play about the same time the federal government was to apply in U.S. District Court for an injunction against Faubus enjoining him from thwarting integration in the Arkansas capital city.

Twp. Census Nears Finish

The special census being taken in Middletown Township should be completed by Monday, it was announced today by Edward R. Rhein, special census supervisor. Rhein said the house-to-house visits should end Friday, Monday, the job of tallying the count will begin. Rhein said that he will be able to give a preliminary count on the population Monday night. But he said it will take two weeks for the certified figure to come from the U.S. Census Bureau in Washington, D.C.

He asked every person who lived in the township on Sept. 5 to make sure they were counted.

DA Sets Conference On Homicide Charge

Bucks County District Attorney Donald W. VanArtsdalen will confer with State Police Sgt. John Mitchell today to discuss the open homicide charge filed against Donald L. Gibson, 28, of Richlandtown Township, in the death of a 65-year-old Quakertown grocer.

Hillary Lockhart died early Sunday after Gibson allegedly struck him in an argument over a dollar.

Five Youths Arrested For Cross Burning

Five Levittown boys, accused of burning three crosses on the grounds of the John Fitch school, were arrested yesterday afternoon on charges of juvenile delinquency and malicious mischief.

According to police, the boys admitted burning crosses on the school site located in Greenbrook, Levittown, on Aug. 21, 28, and 29. The Fitch school is less than a mile from the home of William Myers, Jr., of 43 Deepgreen Lane, Dogwood Hollow. Myers and his family were the first Negroes to move into Levittown.

The boys range in age from 14 to 16. Three were arrested at Benjamin Franklin Junior High School and two at Delhaas High School. They were released in custody of their parents after questioning, to await action of county juvenile authorities.

The investigation and arrests were made by Patrolmen Harry Smith and John Rice. One boy said he got the idea when he heard his parents talking about it. The crosses were made from twigs or branches wrapped in kerosene soaked rags.

The case of a young Morrisville man who pleaded guilty to using forged prescriptions to get narcotics was continued by Bucks County Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite today to obtain medical evidence.

The testimony against Howard T. Lacey, 326 North Pennsylvania Ave., brought out that he has been a victim of hemophilia and narcotics had once been prescribed for his illness.

Thomas F. Cullen, narcotics investigator for the state police, said he found four prescriptions which Lacey altered or forged to get an opium derivative. The officer said Lacey did not seem to have the symptoms or to come (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

Carrie Winds Hit 160 MPH

MIAMI (UP) — Hurricane Carrie churned through the South Atlantic about 1,900 miles from the U.S. mainland today, packing a punch equal to "three atomic bombs every 30 seconds."

The storm's movement was slow during the night, but winds had built up to 160 miles an hour.

In its advisory at 6 a.m. e.d.t., the San Juan, Puerto Rico, weather bureau placed the storm at 970 miles east-northeast of San Juan. The 160-mile winds cover a small area near the center, according to a Navy "hurricane hunter" plane that flew into the storm last night and remained in the area early today.

The storm's speed was charted at about nine miles an hour and its direction west-northwest.

Dulles Predicts Peaceful Syrian Crisis Settlement

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today he believes the crisis in Syria will be settled peacefully.

Dulles emphasized that the United States does not favor peace at any price, and is ready to act, if necessary, to meet Russia's efforts to undermine the independence of Middle Eastern states.

He spoke as major elements of the powerful U.S. Sixth Fleet patrolled the "east-central Mediterranean" and jet fighters and other arms were being sent to several Middle East countries. Administration officials said the U.S. plane deliveries are in various stages. A dozen speedy F-86 Sabre jets already have been flown into Saudi Arabia.

Dulles, at a news conference, virtually ruled out the use of armed force by this country under the Eisenhower Doctrine—unless the situation becomes much worse.

He said he does not believe there will be outright aggression (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Pennsbury System OK's New Secondary School

The expanding Pennsbury School System moved last night at its regular board meeting to build an additional secondary school.

Medell Bair, regional superintendent of schools, said the new secondary school will probably be of the middle two type (ninth and tenth grades) in Pennsbury's 2-2-2 system.

A committee was appointed to begin investigation of a suitable location for the proposed school.

Mr. Bair said the additional space will be needed in the secondary schools in four years causing the board to begin acting now.

Bradshaw Snipes was named chairman of the committee. Other members of the group are James Fitzcharles and Raymond Wiese.

No location was selected for study but the group will attempt to pick a site "sensibly located" to the heaviest population areas in the township.

In other board action, a group from Fairless Hills section "A" was heard requesting bus service to the William Penn Junior High School.

Bus service for locations more than two miles from a school are subsidized by the state. The location of this section is less than two miles from the school and the request for transportation will probably be turned down, it was indicated.

The board must follow the policy established by the state code on school transportation in this matter, Mr. Bair said.

Electric Code Decision Near

Justice of the Peace Earl B. Dougherty, of Edgely, is preparing a decision on the charges that Levitt and Sons, Inc., violated electrical provisions of the Bristol Township building code.

Dougherty said he should finish writing the decision by the early part of next week. When he has reached a decision, Dougherty said he will reconvene the hearing and give his ruling.

JP Dougherty heard the charges brought by Bristol Township against the Levitt firm. The hearing lasted two days, April 30 and May 1.

Dougherty said he has been wading through 143 legal size pages of testimony taken at the hearing and in addition is studying the briefs filed by attorneys for each side.

The township charged the builder violated the building code in the installation of wiring, electrical fixtures and receptacles.

Trenton Man Is Sentenced

Dying Hurricane To Sprinkle LBC

The tailend of Hurricane Debbie, the latest in the alphabet soup of summer storms, will hit Lower Bucks with rain, clouds and fog tonight.

Temperatures will drop to the low 60's with cloudy skies and warmer temperatures forecast tomorrow.

Tomorrow's forecast also calls for light showers throughout most of the day.

Good Evening!

Miseries grow in Dixie.

Processes of law sometimes exceedingly slow but inevitably serve the interests of justice, the rights of all. And, of course, these emotion-packed issues always best solved by time, patience, discussion, persuasion.

What a tragedy, that 15-year-old Philadelphia boy being sentenced to death—the youngest killer in Pennsylvania history to be given the supreme penalty.

No criticism of the court, for this was a case where savage murder was involved, and the time is long past when coddling of hoodlums viciously violating the law should be tolerated.

But what a sad commentary on our cities and communities everywhere that a climate has been permitted to develop encouraging widespread youth crime.

Tropical storm Debbie fizzles.

And all the time everybody settling back waiting for that north-easter wind and rain Debbie was supposed to dump on the region. Right now all we've got is a drizzle.

Phillies tackle the Cards tonight and, hey, with only 15 games left, wouldn't it be a neat trick if our lads put together a 15-game winning streak?

That should guarantee 'em the first division.

Best thing about the future is that it comes only one day at a time.

Radio Tower, Wrong-Way House OK'd

The way was cleared for Levittown's first radio station last night when the Bristol Township Zoning Board of Adjustment gave special permission for the erection of a 150-foot tower.

The tower will be put up off the Newportville Fallsington road near Levittown Parkway, adjacent to several homes on Birch Drive.

Mid-November Goal

Officials of the radio station, whose call letters are WBCB, said they hope to start construction within 10 days and to start broadcasting in mid-November.

The station had appealed to the zoning board last night since the township zoning code only permits structures up to 50 feet high.

Approval was granted pending the outcome of test borings on the site.

In other business the board granted a variance to permit completion of a home on Dixon and Laings Aves., Pennfield, West Bristol. Work on the home, owned by Herbert and Irving Fine-man, of Philadelphia, had been halted by the township zoning officer, Howard J. Robinson.

Robinson claimed that the builder had not obtained a zoning permit and that the house was being built too close to the building line on Dixon Ave.

Side Or Front

The case caused quite a controversy when the owners said they had intended the side facing Laings Ave. to be the front. Robinson ruled that the side facing Dixon was actually the front and that the house did not meet township requirements. The issue of the front versus side issue did not come up last night.

The board directed Robinson to issue a permit under the present conditions.

Levitt and Sons, Inc., was also granted a variance for a house that was built too close to the building line. The house located on Inkberry Road, Indian Creek, is not occupied yet. According to plans the house was set back the proper distance but a final survey, taken after the house was put up, showed the violation.

First Meeting

Frank Seaders, newly appointed member of the board, sat in on his first meeting last night. He did not vote on the Pennfield house. The other members of the board are William J. O'Neill, chairman, and Joseph F. Dooley, secretary.

Several residents had previously protested that the proposed radio tower would be a hazard and lower the value of their homes. But last night the only two neighbors who spoke said they had no objections. They were Leonard Newman, of 52 Birch Drive, and Clifford Nelms, of 48 Birch Drive. Both men had previously objected to the tower.

bury facilities, especially the Manor School, as a meeting place was denied the Levittown Betterment Association.

The request was denied, a board spokesman said, because it was not in keeping with the educational purposes of the buildings.

Another 11 teachers were added to the Pennsbury staff making the administrative and teaching personnel a record 263.

The 11 teachers would be spotted throughout the entire system.

Levittown Woman Wins Award For Health Service

Mrs. Kathryn S. Zwielerin, of 43 Shelter Lane, Stonybrook, Levittown, has been announced as the winner of the Benjamin Rush Award.

The award is presented to the non-professional person who most contributes to public health. It is named in honor of one of Pennsylvania's outstanding physicians.

Blood Donor Program

Mrs. Zwielerin is in charge of the blood donor procurement program for the Lower Bucks County Hospital American Red Cross.

In this capacity she has been responsible for enlisting groups of blood donors from small industries, civic organizations and neighborhood groups. These donors have given their blood at the Lower Bucks County Hospital for any and all patients in the hospital.

Persistent Effort

The program enlists approximately 1,500 blood donors per year. They are normally bled in groups twice each week in order to insure a constant, even supply of blood. In order to accomplish this, Mrs. Zwielerin must secure a group of approximately 15 donors twice each week. This requires constant day to day, week to week, and month to month persistent effort on her part.

The presentation of the awards will be made at a luncheon meeting of the Bucks County Medical Society at noon tomorrow at Conti's Inn, Cross Keys.

'Rock Hunter' Youth Gets 30-Day Term

A nineteen-year-old Chalfont youth, John David Roberts, yesterday was sentenced to serve 30 days to a year in Bucks County Prison for burglary and larceny and receiving stolen goods in Falls Township on Feb. 18.

Sentence was imposed by Judge I. Louis Rubin after Roberts pleaded guilty in Bucks County Courts. In the trial, it was brought out that Roberts was previously in trouble as a juvenile.

Drunken driving suspects who pleaded guilty yesterday were assessed fines that totaled $2,200. They included:

Joseph Vidulich, 917 Park Ave., West Bristol, fined $200 and costs by Edwin H. Satterthwaite; David W. Allen, Newtown, fined $200 and costs by President Judge Edward G. Biester; Edward A. Keis, Hatboro, fined $200 and costs by President Judge Edward G. Biester; Edward A. Keis, Hatboro, fined $200 and costs by Judge Satterthwaite; and John Haughey, 126 Winding Way, Falls Park, placed on probation one year with suspended sentence and fined $350 and costs.

Civic Group Holds Party

The Mill Creek Manor Civic Association community party last week was a rousing success, according to Mrs. Janet Neeld, publicity chairman.

Even though the affair was put on for good neighborliness and not as a money maker, the civic group broke even financially.

A fishing contest in the canal was won by Teddy Simms, who caught the largest fish, and was awarded a new fishing rod as first prize.

Rowboat rides for children and a horseshoe pitching contest highlighted the afternoon session. Ed Deliman and Irving Neeld were undefeated in the horseshoe contests.

A softball game, daddies against mommies, was won by the men. Mrs. Neeld reported. In the evening despite showers, skill games, dancing and refreshments were enjoyed by all members of the area attending.

day in a boycott movement kept them home again today.

At Jones school, Principal Kathryn Millsap said it looks as if "hardly any" children were attending classes in the upper grades. In one first grade class where 23 students are registered, five had appeared by class opening time.

The blast followed angry demonstrations and rock throwing at six of the seven city schools where Negro children were admitted to the first grade on opening day. The incidents continued into the night.

Police Chief Douglass Hosse said the explosion "very definitely is connected with all this trouble over integration." One Negro pupil attended Hattie Cotton Monday, but Hosse said there was no trouble there during the day.

Hosse said "the situation will be under control" at school opening today. He also reported several persons had been picked up for questioning in connection with the explosion, but no charges made.

No decision has been made as to whether state aid will be sought in bringing the situation under control, the police chief added.

A police guard has been thrown up around the home of the Negro child, located about six blocks from the school, Hosse said. The child was not identified.

Also in court to testify was Morrisville Patrolman Stanley Naprawa. District Attorney Donald W. Van Artsdalen is handling the prosecution.

Surely You Have An Opinion

Certainly you know whether or not you want to have sales people offer suggestions or advise you when you are shopping.

Many do and some don't.

If you have not already participated in the Good Will Community Survey, look up the details in Monday's paper about the completely new and different Survey for this week.

The managers of the stores are particularly interested in what the most of you prefer and this week's question is a most important one.

Would you like to have the stores give you more information about the background, experience and qualifications of those who serve you in the stores?

Just remember that the weekly cash awards for the ballots are entirely separate from the letter awards. You are not required to write a letter to win the ballot award. You are not required to fill out a ballot to win the letter award.

Shopping is your business as much as it is the business of the stores. Do your share to get it the way you want it.

Suspended Sentence Also Given

The Breidigan Brothers, who became embroiled in a quarrel with Tullytown Police Chief John B. Walterick on July 4 during a drowning search, were each fined $100 and given a one year suspended sentence today by Bucks County President Judge Edward G. Biester.

Albert Breidigan, Edgely, pleaded guilty to one count of resisting arrest. Another resisting arrest charge and an assault and battery charge against him were nolle prossed.

His brother, James, of Tremont, pleaded guilty of attempting to rescue Albert from police custody.

On Main St.

Chief Walterick testified with Patrolmen John Steen of Tullytown police. The chief said the disturbance occurred on Main St. in front of his home after the chief backed his car to the street to drive to Van Seiver Lake to aid a rescue search.

A child drowned in the lake that day.

When the chief got his car to the street, he told the court, a car behind was honking its horn. The chief said the driver was Albert. He said he went to speak to the driver.

He said the driver demanded his name and badge number, but the chief said he replied he had to hurry to the emergency. He said Albert then twice tried to strike him.

Put In Police Car

James Breidigan got out of his brother's car and joined the quarrel, the officer said. Both were abusive, according to police, and were forcibly put in the police car.

Albert Breidigan said he had become angry when the chief wouldn't give him his name and number. He said the chief pointed a finger and he attempted to push his arm away. Both brothers said they had been drinking small amounts of beer, and were out for a drive.

Unity Sought By Churches

OVERLIN, Ohio (UP)—Protestant and Orthodox leaders today called on "every local church and congregation" to take up the quest for Christian unity.

The appeal was made in a "message to the churches" presented for adoption at the final session of an eight-day unity conference attended by representatives of 47 U.S. and Canadian denominations.

It said the Oberlin conference, first of its kind ever held in North America, disclosed unexpected solidarity "among Christians of the varied inheritance" on many points of doctrine.

But the conference acknowledged there still are important differences that must be resolved before unity in spirit can be translated into any kind of organizational unity.

It said ministers and Christian laymen in every community must now join in exploring these differences and seeking common grounds on which "the oneness of God's people may be made manifest."

Levittowner Gets Award In Saving Accident Victim

First aid lessons he learned in classes conducted by the Philadelphia Gas Works enabled John W. Winters, meter mechanic, to save the life of a New Jersey State Highway employee injured in a traffic accident, Winters yesterday received the Philadelphia Gas Works Meritorious Service Award.

The award—a citation and a gold watch—was presented to Winters by Charles G. Simpson, PGW general manager, in the company offices, 1401 Arch St.

Witnessed Accident

On July 22, Winters, who lives at 11 Red Cedar Drive, Levittown, was driving with a fellow member of the Levittown Volunteer Fire Company and Rescue Squad No. 2, Donald Zumpfe, of 45 Black Walnut Ridge, Levittown, on Route 130 through Riverside, N.J., when they witnessed the accident.

A tractor-trailer crashed into the rear of a State Highway Department truck, jackknifed and sheared off a utility pole, dropping charged wires over the highway and wreckage. Five men in the dump truck were injured.

Bleeding Profusely

Winters and Zumpfe left their car and found Joseph Rohloff of Burlington, lying in the road, bleeding profusely from a severed artery in his leg. Remembering the first aid directions he had learned at PGW, Winters applied pressure to the artery above the point of laceration. He rode with the injured man in an ambulance to Zurburg Memorial Hospital, Riverside, maintaining the pressure with his hand.

At the hospital Rohloff was given a transfusion of seven pints of blood. Physicians said his life had been saved by Winters' emergency action.

Winters, married and the father of two children, Rosemary, 13, and Ronald, 10, will celebrate his tenth anniversary with the gas company Thursday.

Also appointed at the Doylestown meeting were Mrs. H. Jackson Davis, Doylestown, wife of the county health board director; and Mrs. Gilbert J. Kraus, Doylestown, wife of an attorney.

The directors met at the Doylestown Methodist Church with Mrs. Elliston P. Morris, president, presiding. Mrs. Davis was named chairman of an education committee.

Mrs. Kraus will head a committee on publicity in connection with education, volunteers, membership, library, and finance program.

The employment of Miss Helen Barrett as librarian was announced.

Lower Bucks Flu Clinic Is Delayed

The planned Nottingham VFW Flu Vaccine Clinic for Lower Bucks County has been postponed until at least Oct. 15 and probably to Oct. 30.

Dr. Harry Rudman, at the Lower Bucks County Medical Center, announced today that the delay in the clinic is the result "of increasingly large orders by the U.S. government."

The clinic, sponsored by Nottingham VFW and utilizing the facilities of the Lower Bucks County Medical Center, was originally scheduled for last week-end.

Unable to get the supply of vaccine they expected, the VFW and the Medical Center, postponed the clinic tentatively for one week.

Dr. Rudman pointed out the National Drug Co., of Philadelphia, is the only firm that is now producing the vaccine in a large quantity.

Five other drug firms in the nation have facilities for producing the vaccine and hope to be in full production by the end of October, Dr. Rudman said.

Union Takes Cleanup Job

WASHINGTON (UP)—AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer William F. Schnitzler said today the labor movement will "finish the job" of cleaning out racketeers and crooks within its ranks.

He also asserted that organized labor has stricter ethical standards than many business concerns.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the AFL-CIO Transit Workers convention here, Schnitzler said the AFL-CIO will be stronger because of the clean-up drive.

"We don't want the guy who extorts from an employer, or who sells out his own members, or who consorts with racketeers, or who dips into the union treasury," Schnitzler said.

"And what's more we are in the process of ridding ourselves of all this vermin that has infected the trade union movement."

Schnitzler said the AFL-CIO ethical practices code contains the basic standards of morality and decency of the trade union movement and not "fancy language" or "pious platitudes."

"Either you are honest or you are crooked," he said. "There's no middle ground."

Reports on corruption charges in the Teamsters, Bakery Workers and Textile Workers unions are now being prepared by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee. The unions could be ordered to clean up or get out of the AFL-CIO as a result of charges filed against them.

Schnitzler contended the labor movement is more concerned with ethical practices than some business leaders.

"Corporation officials think nothing of morals as they do everything necessary to make a fast buck," he said.

President Eisenhower, gravely worried over the trouble in Arkansas, chose an avenue of patient waiting in hopes the situation would clear up in Little Rock without the necessity for drastic federal measures.

Davies was expected to set a hearing date for sometime next week on the government's petition.

Council To Tackle 2 Problems

Apartment, Extension Proposals

Morrisville Borough Council will tackle two pressing problems at tonight's regular monthly session of council.

The meeting is listed for 8 o'clock at the Borough Hall.

Final Disposition
Final disposition of the proposed apartment building in the borough is expected with possibly the two final readings of the zoning ordinance.

The ordinance, approved at its first reading, must be approved twice more before being accepted as law. A public hearing required by law was completed last month.

Edward Mannix, chairman of the ordinance committee, will report on his meeting with Louis Cahan, Trenton builder.

Cahan has promised to construct the 14 story structure as soon as council clears all legal obstacles.

Washington Street
Council will also examine the final legal disposition of the Washington Street hassle.

Ground for the work was broken yesterday but the part owned by Paul Sullivan has yet to be cleared.

A jury of view may be selected to decide a fair price on this property.

Sullivan has asked $20,000 for this property. A committee, headed by Councilman John Sawyer met with Sullivan but did not reach agreement on any price.

Nicholas Mislan, president of council, will preside over the meeting.

Yardley Fills Council Seat

Ralph B. Yardley, 83 South Main St., Yardley, has been appointed to the empty seat on the Yardley Borough Council.

The appointment came last night at the regular meeting of the Yardley Council, Frederick Bebbington, borough secretary, announced.

Mr. Yardley will fill the seat left vacant by the death of Dr. Eugene Kelly. The term will expire the first Monday in January. Mr. Yardley is a candidate for council in his own right in the November election.

The new borough councilman was approved unanimously by council last night and sworn in prior to the end of the council session.

Burgess Myles J. Furey gave the oath of office to the new councilman.

Mr. Bebbington said no other names were offered in nomination for the vacant council seat.

The new councilman, a Philadelphia attorney, is the son of John L. M. Yardley.

The appointment brings the borough council to its full strength of seven members.

Girl Wins Speed Case

HIGHSTOWN, N.J. (UP)—A two-hour hearing in Municipal Court Monday night ended in vindication for Winifred Ann Zebley, 21, of Philadelphia.

Miss Zebley had received a summons for speeding on Rt. 33 on Labor Day. Specifically, the stenotypist had been charged with driving 36 m.p.h. in a 35 m.p.h. zone.

Magistrate Samuel Bard dismissed the case after ruling the prosecution had failed to "establish accuracy." Police Chief Ernest Davidson conceded the speed timer had not been checked in 2 1/2 years.

Miss Zebley told newsmen the summons was "ridiculous."

The next case before the magistrate concerned a man appealing a charge of driving 37 m.p.h. in a 35 m.p.h. zone.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government reported that Americans took 48 million travel trips away from home during the first 15 weeks of this year. The report, part of a preliminary study of American travel habits to be issued this week, showed 21 million trips were to visit friends or relatives, 14 million for business and 13 million for pleasure jaunts.

Reserve Fund

The Authority is expected to pay for the cost of the new standpipe from its reserve maintenance fund.

The present half-down standpipe is located next to the borough secretary's office on North Delmorr Ave.

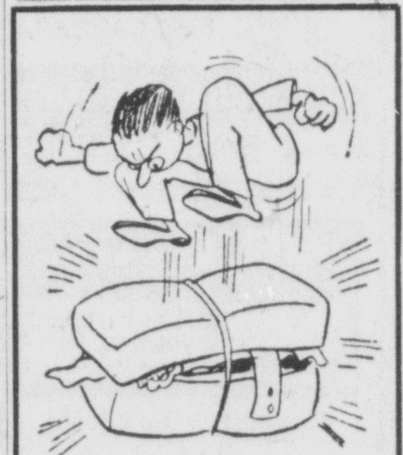

Borough secretary Bob Steward has indicated the new standpipe will be placed adjacent to the water filtration plant opposite the secretary's office.

It will take about a year to complete construction on the standpipe, John Whalen, Authority secretary said.

A shortage of certain steel makes the delay necessary, he said.

Boro Using Washington Street Land

Morrisville started work on controversial Washington Street yesterday and is already making use of the land.

Not for homes or stores but for construction.

Dirt taken from the construction work on the street extension is being transported to Prospect St. in the borough to be used for reinforcing the shoulders of the road and for a backing to the road.

Borough secretary Bob Steward said the dirt available from the street should save the borough money on the Prospect job.

No final construction on the extension can be completed until the property owned by Paul Sullivan is settled.

Mr. Steward said the initial construction was expected later this week but was moved up to make use of the dirt on the other street project in the borough.

UNABLE TO ATTEND

CHICAGO (UP)—Two guests couldn't attend Mr. and Mrs. Carmen J. Lipuma's silver wedding anniversary celebration, but they sent their best wishes. The guests, invited by the Lipuma's 10-year-old daughter, Margaret, were Pope Pius XII and President Eisenhower.

Bristol Jewish Center School Has Vacancies

There are still some vacancies for enrollment in the religious school of Bristol Jewish Center, Rabbi Aron Moscovits announced today.

"The synagogue is adequately equipped to offer spiritual guidance to all interested persons," the rabbi said.

"We also have facilities for the high holiday services of Rosh Hashonah and Yom Kippur," he said.

An open house is scheduled for Friday night following the Sabbath services.

All interested persons are invited to attend, Rabbi Moscovits said.

Policeman Walks

GASTONIA, N.C. (UP)—A driver arrested near here may have been drunk but at least he was driving. That's more than could be said for the rural policeman who arrested him.

Officers arrested the man as he drove a mule-drawn wagon. They charged him with drunken driving and left Sgt. Norman Fletcher behind to bring in the wagon.

Fletcher wound up walking two miles to the police station. The mules wouldn't budge for him.
